

HUGH TOWN

Character area 4: Porthcressa Bank

Character area 4:
Porthcressa Bank

This sheet summarises the comprehensive assessments of character and regeneration opportunities in sections 5 and 6 of the report.

Character summary
Historically an open area behind the foreshore, used for shipbuilding in the 19th century but with earlier small-scale settlement at the eastern end. The present character derives from a low density mix of residential, commercial and leisure uses which developed in the later 20th century. An informal ‘promenade’ is set behind a popular bathing beach and there are fine views to seaward.

Regeneration opportunities

This character area could offer a significant opportunity for a substantial new development within the historic area of Hugh Town. It is also a significant element of the town’s ‘seaside’ role, meriting some small-scale improvements to presentation.

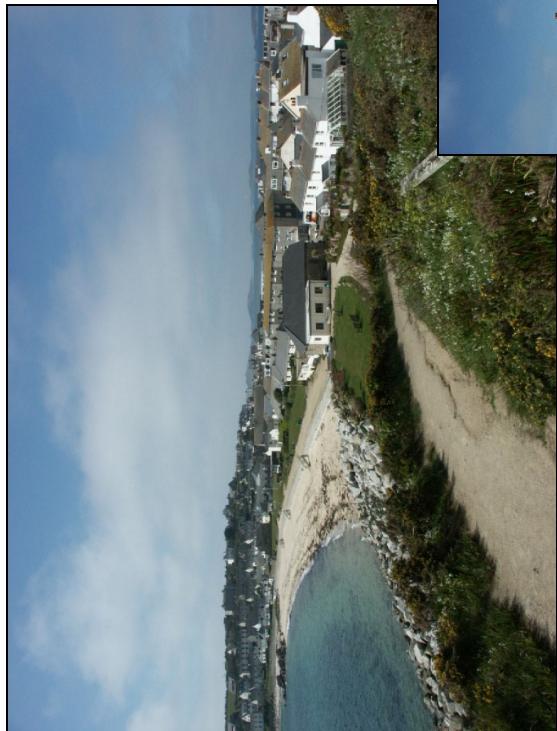

Assess the feasibility of a major new development

- A key initial step towards significant regeneration development would be a feasibility study, to include assessment of the threat from climate change and the financial viability of site assembly, proceeding to a master development plan for the area.

Create public realm improvements

- The grassed area on the seaward side of Ingram’s Opening would benefit from small scale landscaping and environmental improvements.

An open area used for shipbuilding in the 19th century and loosely infilled in the later 20th century. Potentially the site for a new ‘quarter’ in Hugh Town, extending the tight grain of the urban area to the sea on this shore of the isthmus.
